Buck$ are his friends

It's easy to be an Ohio State fan when the fanfare sounds and the drum major jauntily struts onto the turf. Year-round financial support is a little more demanding, and that's where Saul Seigel, new director of the Development Fund, comes into the line-up.

The only official gift-seeking and receiving agency of the university, the Development Fund is "the icing on the cake," according to Seigel. "We are the difference between the extra opportunity for excellence and the constraints that result in mediocrity."

For example, Fred Van Lennup of Castleton Farms, Lexington, Ky. gave $15,000 for closed circuit television equipment in the new Veterinary Hospital. Specially adapted for equine surgery, the equipment "enables each and every student to have a front-row seat in any surgical situation," according to Vernon L. Tharp, associate dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine.

During the past fiscal year, the Development Fund brought in more than $6.9 million from individual alumni and friends, corporations, foundations and others. Nearly $72 million has been received since the fund was established in 1939.

The fund is administered by a 21-member board, headed by John F. Havens, a Central Ohio businessman and land developer and 1949 Ohio State graduate.

In addition to direct cash gifts through donors clubs, matching gifts programs and community campaigns, the Development Fund encourages deferred gifts through bequests, trusts, life insurance policies, and the Pooled Income Fund. The latter is an investment trust maintained by the university to receive and combine the property of many donors, paying them the income determined by the trust's annual rate of return.

While many gifts are made with a specific purpose in mind, undesignated gifts have recently supported the Development Fund Awards, Distinguished Teaching Awards, Summer Faculty Fellowships and Student Loan Foundation.

Oriental art treasures, original James Thurber manuscripts, movie posters, and extensive collections of scientific specimens are only a few of the unusual gifts-in-kind Ohio State has received. Donations have traditionally been valuable works of art, jewelry, furniture, antiques, and rare books and are often displayed throughout campus. Since 1960, gifts-in-kind to the university have totaled more than $1 million.

John F. Havens

An Ohio State alumnus, Seigel has served as president of two Ohio State Alumni Clubs. He has been executive director of the Greater Flint (Mich.) Downtown Corporation and served as consultant for urban affairs for the C. S. Mott Foundation of Flint. He is well-known as a public speaker on subjects related to community responsibility, public relations, and creative thinking.

IN THE HUDDLE

By Steve Snapp

Woody Hayes was pleased with last Saturday's 49-0 win over the University of Iowa that ran Ohio State's record to 5-0 on the year. Pleased but not satisfied.

"I am never satisfied," admitted the Buckeye coach of 25 years. "We made nine of our ten offensive goals against Iowa and the defense had a shutout, but there is always room for improvement."

"At this stage of the season a team is either getting better or getting worse. We want to be in that first category. We'll be out this week to achieve all ten goals on offense and play even better defense."

An unrealistic objective? Maybe, but a pretty good indication as to why Wayne Woodrow Hayes enters today's game needing just one win to surpass Jess Neely and become the fourth winningest coach in the history of college football.

Neely, most widely known for his success at Rice, recorded 207 wins during his distinguished career. Woody in his 30th year as a head coach, equalled that total against Iowa and with his next win will take over sole possession of fourth place on the all-time victory list.

The three men who have won more games than Woody are acknowledged as three of the great names in college coaching. The leader is Amos Alonzo Stagg with 314 triumphs. He is followed by the legendary Glenn "Pop" Warner, whose lifetime victory total was 313. Third place belongs to Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama, the winningest active major college coach. Bryant currently has 246 wins to his credit, including four this season.

Then come Hayes and Neely, and Woody hopes to do something about that deadlock today against Wisconsin. Not because it's career victory No. 208, but because it's victory No. 6 in 1975, a must if the Buckeyes are to retain their top spot in the national ratings.

The Badgers undoubtedly have their own ideas about that. Coach John Jardine's team is 2-3 on the year and 1-1 in the Big Ten following last Saturday's come-from-behind win over Purdue. Trailing 14-0 in that game, Wisconsin rallied for a 17-14 win on Vince Lamia's last second field goal.

The Badgers boast one of the finest running backs in the Big Ten in tailback Billy Marek. Marek, a 5-9, 188-pounder rushed for 152 yards against Purdue and became the Big Ten's all-time leading scorer with 242 points when he scored the 40th touchdown of his three-year career.

The Chicago senior comes into today's game with 2,925 yards. If he tops the 3,000 mark against the Buckeyes, he will become the 30th player in college football history to have done so.

But it's a diversified Wisconsin offense, one that will be a challenge for the OSU defense, which currently leads the Big Ten in total defense as well as scoring defense.

Fullbacks Ken Starch and Larry Canada, tailback Mike Morgan and quarterbacks Mike Carroll and Charles Green complete the arsenal. It's an attack that is strikingly similar to Ohio State's in terms of versatility.

Defensively, the Badgers have been very tough against the pass. Currently second in the conference in that department, the Wisconsin secondary has already pilfered 18 interceptions on the year.

Up front, a fellow to watch is freshman Jerry Stejskal, who is coming fast. In fact, in leaps and bounds. Stejskal had a whopping 23 tackles against the Boilermakers and has tied linebacker John Zimmerman for the team lead with 56.

This is the 45th meeting between the Buckeyes and Badgers. There have been some classic struggles in the previous 44 and this one could very well be another.

Lineman of the Week

SCOTT DANNELLEY—OFFENSIVE TACKLE—Came through with a grade of 83 percent against Iowa last week, the highest mark of the year by an offensive lineman. Has graded out above 70 percent in each of the Buckeyes' five games in 1975. Saturday's effort earned him four Buckeye leaves, a noteworthy effort for an interior lineman. In his second season as a starter, he figures as one of the Big Ten's top tackles this year. His blocking Saturday greatly aided the Buckeyes in making nine of their ten offensive goals.

Buck of the Week

ED THOMPSON—LINEBACKER—Had 11 tackles against Iowa and now has 45 on the season, the third highest figure on the team. Also credited with a pass broken up and a touchdown save against the Hawkeyes as the Ohio State defense recorded its second shutout of the season. Was a part-time starter last year, filling in for Ken Kuhn. His first start last year was against Wisconsin and he responded with 12 tackles for his best game of the year.

WISCONSIN PLAYERS TO WATCH

BILL MAREK—TAILBACK—Became the Big Ten's all-time leading scorer last week with a touchdown and a two-point extra point against Purdue. Now has 242 career points, five more than previous leader Tom Harmon. Also rushed for 152 yards against the Boilermakers to take over fifth place on the Big Ten's all-time rushing list, with 2,925 yards. Is seeking to become the 30th player in college football to surpass the 3,000 yard mark. Has been an All-Big Ten pick the past two years.

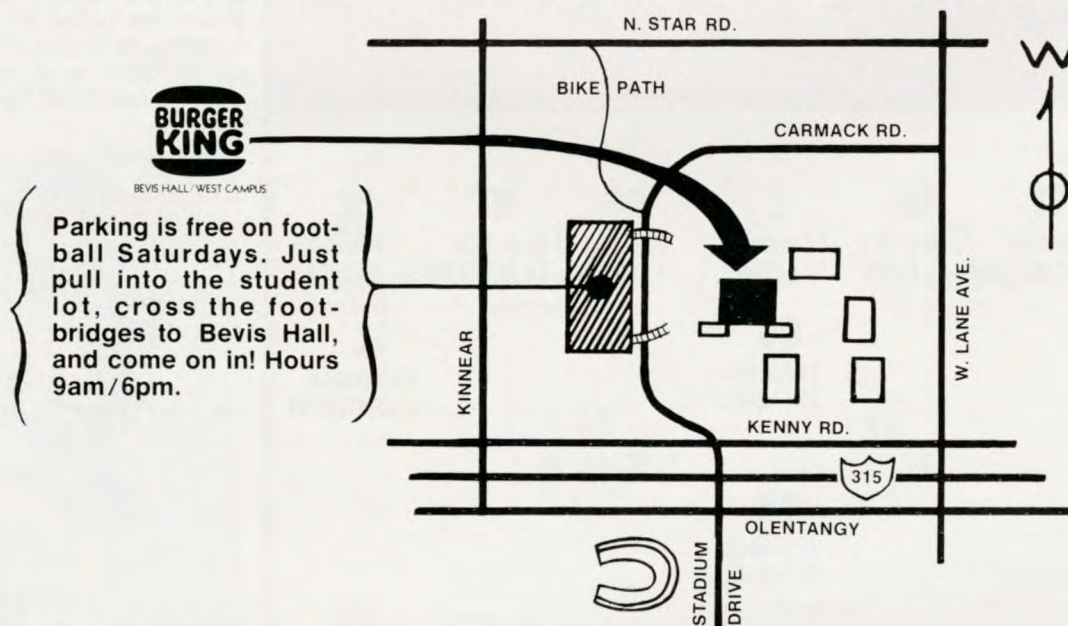

DENNIS LICK—OFFENSIVE TACKLE—Easily the Badgers' best lineman. A first team All-Big Ten tackle last year along with the Buckeyes' Kurt Schumacher. Was a consensus pre-season All-America pick and is considered by many as the finest tackle in Wisconsin history. Started 28 straight games for the Badgers before a knee injury last year at Michigan State forced him to miss the last three games of the season. Underwent surgery and has made a full recovery. Greatest assets are his ability to sustain a block and good balance.

An important message for Ohio State football fans who enjoy good food
in pleasant surroundings and who appreciate good value.

Present this advertisement (no need to tear it out of the program) at our Bevis Hall / West Campus location (see map) before or after any 1975 OSU home game. Buy one of our delicious Whopper, Yumbo or Whaler sandwiches; an order of piping hot fries or onion rings, and a beverage; and get a second Whopper, Yumbo or Whaler free (show us your football ticket or stub and we'll add a chilled fresh apple or pear, also free). Coupon may be redeemed only at Bevis Hall and is good on game days only.

You will enjoy these delicacies in the splendor of the first Burger King restaurant ever to be placed within a college building. It is carpeted, panelled, softly lit, and hung with reproductions of old masters and the French impressionists. The good music of the '70s fills the air around you. And, as if that weren't enough, our massive glass windows afford significant views of the stadium, the main campus, and the emerging downtown skyline.

Truly this is a place to visit.

Now You See Him Now You Don't

With the ball on the Iowa seven yard line, Cornelius Greene took the snap from center and rolled out around right end. As a Hawkeye defender moved in for what he thought was a sure tackle, the Ohio State quarterback deftly faked to the outside and then with amazing quickness cut back inside and raced into the end zone.

Greene's water-bug like moves have become a familiar sight to Buckeye fans the past three years. Just when he appears to be trapped and about to be thrown for a loss, the elusive signal caller somehow manages to squirm free and pick up some additional yardage. More often than not, Greene's heroics happen on crucial third down plays.

"Cornelius gives us what every great team has to have, a quarterback who can turn a minus-yardage play into a big gainer," evaluates George Chaump, the Buckeyes' quarterback coach. "Rex Kern did the same thing when he played for us, but you don't find players like Rex and Cornelius everyday."

Chaump tossed in another of Greene's attributes just for good measure. "He has perhaps the greatest awareness of any quarterback I have ever seen," the coach declared. "He perceives everything that is going on defensively both as he comes to the line of scrimmage and once the play starts. Believe me that's an invaluable quality."

Chaump spends countless hours studying films of other quarterbacks. He'd rate his with any in the country.

"I don't know of anyone around who can do it all the way Corny can," he says. "There may be better runners or better passers or better fakers, but I haven't seen anyone yet who can do all three things as well."

Greene, dubbed "Flam" by a hometown sports writer in Washington, D.C., was the all-Big Ten quarterback last year, leading the conference in total offense and finishing fourth in passing and sixth in running. It was a sensational year for the 6-0, 170-pounder, who in 12 games rushed for 842 yards and passed for 939 more, setting an Ohio State single season total offense mark of 1781 yards.

Perhaps the most impressive aspect of his 1974 performance was his passing game. Regarded primarily as a runner because of his great speed and quickness (he's a 4.4 sprinter for 40 yards), Greene hit 58 of 97 passes last year for a .597 percentage.

Ohio State quarterback Cornelius Greene rolls out against Michigan State. Greene's elusive runs netted 48 yards against the Spartans in a 21-0 Buckeye win.

Incredibly, he's ahead of that figure through five games this year with 30 completions in 45 attempts. That figures out to .667 for the senior field general, who has been unbelievable the past three weeks, hitting 21 of 25 for 347 yards. After going seven of eight against Penn State, he hit six of nine against UCLA and last week throttled Iowa with eight out of eight.

"He's throwing the ball awfully well right now," advised Chaump. "Now that he is running well again (Greene was off to a slow start this year due mostly to an injury in the opener with Michigan State), I think he is going to have the best year of his career."

"The thing about Cornelius is that he does so many things that people don't see. He was 12-for-12 in automatics against North Carolina, but things like that don't get noticed."

Greene admits he had a lot to learn in making the transition from high school to college.

"Our high school offense wasn't this refined," he states. "I was pretty much able to do what I wanted to. Now there is much more discipline involved in what I do."

"My passing was probably my weakest point when I came here, especially when I dropped back. That's what I have had to work hardest on."

But there was never any doubt he would make it.

"You could see right from the start that he had all the tools to be a great quarterback," said Chaump. "And he hasn't disappointed me."

Building an organization is much like building a football team. You secure key personnel and use good coaching and concentrate on the fundamentals of the game, progress will appear and championship form can be attained.

Here in our agency, we have key personnel who have done a great job of recruiting quality men and women. Pictured on this page are some of the key personnel who do an excellent job of coaching and guiding our agents into becoming successful, established career life underwriters. This is a career lifetime opportunity. Qualified individuals may be promoted to management. If you are a person who has a competitive background, has been serious about success and truly desires a career—not a job—why not call Mike Murray, C.L.U. or one of the other agency coaches of the Murray Agency.

Current NCAA legislation limits member institutions to no more than 30 football recruits in a given year. Some college coaches consider that restriction too severe, but not Woody Hayes.

Since Hayes began coaching at Ohio State in 1951, the Buckeyes have rarely ever taken the allowable maximum. The last time it happened was in 1967 when Rex Kern, John Brockington, Jack Tatum and Jim Stillwagon, just to name a few, made up the nucleus of what may have been the best freshman class ever at Ohio State.

But not giving out thirty grants-in-aids every year hasn't hurt the Buckeye cause. Twenty-two of Hayes' 24 OSU teams have produced winning records and the last three have made Rose Bowl appearances.

"We are after quality not quantity when we recruit," explains Hayes. "We don't go after numbers, we try to get players who will fit into our system and be able to make a contribution to our team."

The 1975 frosh class looks like it can do just that. Twenty-four in number, the current crop of yearlings is big, strong and aggressive. That was obvious from the first day of fall practice. And after the youngsters had had an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the OSU system, their talent was equally apparent.

"They're a good group okay and I am sure a number of them will help us this year," said Hayes, who does not hesitate to play freshmen once he deems them ready for the rigors of college football.

Twenty of the newcomers are linemen and linebackers. Graduation depleted the Buckeyes in those two areas last year, so the coaching staff spent the winter and spring looking for players to fill the gap.

The search paid off handsomely. Eight of the new group were first-team prep All-Americans. Nine others were first team all-state picks.

Pfeifer Printing means more than just quality printing. We offer complete art and layout services, typesetting, photographic skills, and, of course, fine printing in black and white and color.

What does this mean to our customers? It means one stop service, no running to an agency for art work, to a studio for pictures, to a typesetter for a couple lines of type. This saves time, which in turn saves money.

As Columbus' oldest commercial printing company, we know our business. Feel free to call one of our competent representatives for advice on your next printing job.

“200 Years of Frontier”

“200 Years of Frontier” is the theme of Homecoming 1975. Working with this theme, the Homecoming Committee is sponsoring both traditional and innovative events.

This year's activities included a campus area parade, lawn decorations at dormitories, sororities and fraternities, the queen's contest, and a rally for Woody and the No. 1 Bucks. Today will be climaxed with the pre-game crowning of the Homecoming Queen and the Ohio State vs. Wisconsin football game.

The Homecoming Committee is pleased to sponsor these events and invites you to view the lawn decorations around campus. We hope this will be an enjoyable Homecoming for all of you.

OSU FOOTBALL COACHES

"Whenever you lose a good assistant coach, you must replace him with an assistant who is just as good," WOODY HAYES

Coach Woody Hayes has exercised the above philosophy throughout his coaching career. He believes that the nine assistants who now make up the Buckeye coaching staff are among the finest in college football and one of the chief reasons that Ohio State has enjoyed such success over the years.

Let's meet them:

RALPH STAUB coaches the offensive ends and tackles and is the recruiting coordinator for the Buckeyes. A 1952 graduate of Cincinnati, Ralph joined the OSU staff in 1970.

GEORGE CHAUMP works with the quarterbacks and wide receivers. He has one of the keenest football minds on the staff and has been an offensive innovator since joining the staff in 1968.

MICKY JACKSON is in his second year with the Buckeyes. A 1968 graduate of Marshall, he joined the OSU ranks last year as offensive back-field coach.

ALEX GIBBS is the newest member of the Ohio State staff, having joined the Buckeyes last March as offensive guard and center coach. Alex, a graduate of Davidson College, was an assistant at West Virginia before coming to OSU.

GEORGE HILL has been defensive coordinator at Ohio State since he joined the Buckeye staff in 1971. In addition to overseeing the defense, Hill also coaches the linebackers. Under Hill, the OSU defense has become one of the best in the country.

ESCO SARKKINEN is the veteran of the Ohio State staff. The Buckeyes' defensive end coach, Sark joined the Buckeyes in 1946 as end coach for Paul Bixler. Sark is a 1939 OSU grad, earning All-American football honors as a senior.

RICHARD WALKER coaches the defensive back-field for the Buckeyes. He has been at Ohio State since 1969 and is responsible for recruiting in the Cleveland area.

CHUCK CLAUSEN joined the OSU staff in 1971 as defensive tackle coach. A graduate of New Mexico, he is responsible for recruiting along the eastern seaboard.

JOHN MUMMEY serves as varsity reserve and weight coach for the Buckeyes. He joined the staff in 1969 as freshman coach after a two year stay as head coach at Painesville Harvey High.

What do Jack Nicklaus and #45 have in common?

If Archie Griffin is the only person you know from Ohio State, you'd better put down your binoculars and read on.

Other well-known Buckeyes are:

- Jack Nicklaus, professional golfer, winner of 16 major golf titles
- William Saxbe, U.S. ambassador to India and former U.S. attorney general
- Jerome Lawrence, co-author of Broadway musicals, "Inherit the Wind" and "Mame"
- James Thurber, author of numerous short stories, including "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty"
- Milton Caniff, creator of "Steve Canyon" and "Terry and the Pirates" comic strips

The list goes on and on. Willard Kiplinger, Earl Wilson, George Bellows, Eileen Heckart, Jesse Owens — more Ohio State alumni who have brought recognition to their alma mater through their own achievement. It's the Ohio State Alumni Association which has bound these and other former students together since 1910.

The largest dues-paying alumni group in the country, the Alumni Association boasts more than 70,000 members, including 14,000 life members. It operates 57 clubs in Ohio, 48 in other states, and 23 foreign and constituent groups. On active record are more than 182,000 living alumni, 110,000 of them in Ohio.

"The members of the association are proud of Ohio State and strive to serve its best interest," says Dan Heinlen, director of alumni affairs. "Our philosophy, set down by my predecessors, Dick Mall and Jack Fullen, is straight-forward and easily understood. We believe Ohio State is the best university of its kind in the world, and we're doing everything we can to keep it that way."

Traditional activities of the association include the Alumni Awards for Distinguished Teaching, the Alumni Citizenship Award, class reunions, Sunset Supper, Women's Day, Day with the Arts, and Alumni Day.

Dan Heinlen

Headquarters for the association is Alumni House, in the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, 2400 Olentangy River Rd. Correspondence for The Monthly alumni magazine should be sent to Frank Tate, editor, at this address.

Here, also, campus organizations may submit requests to the Alumni Information Center, a division of the Office of Public Affairs. Alumni Information acquires, stores, and provides information to profile alumni constituencies for university groups.

Chevette.

Chevrolet's new kind of American car.

- Chevette is international in concept, design and heritage. It incorporates many engineering features proved around the world.
- Its wheelbase is 94.3 inches. And overall length is 158.7 inches.
- Its turning circle, compared with that of any foreign or domestic car, is among the smallest.
- It gives you more head room and front leg room than some leading foreign cars.
- It can carry cargo up to four feet wide.
- It's basically a metric car. And, as you know, the metric system is on its way to becoming the standard American measurement.
- It has a standard 1.4-litre engine, with a 1.6-litre engine available (except on the Scooter).
- It comes with a self-service booklet.
- It's a two-door hatchback, with seating for four in the standard Chevette, Rally, Sport and Woody versions. A two-passenger version, the Scooter, is also available.
- It is sold and serviced by every Chevrolet dealer in America—all 6,030 of them.

MAREK DOES IT ALL FOR BADGERS

By John Hughes

In college football the longest cheers are still reserved for the runners who can whirl through a crease of daylight and explode into a clear field.

So it is at Wisconsin. Dennis Lick will make everyone's All-American team, and Terry Stieve and Steve Wagner will probably make somebody's. But it's tailback Billy Marek who will put the Badgers on the map.

This is the Billy Marek who last year led the nation in scoring; the Big 10 in rushing; and the Badgers in those, and just about everything else. Recently he replaced Tom Harmon as the Big 10's all-time leading scorer. A little later in the season he should also become the second-leading rusher on the all-time conference list (trailing only Archie Griffin).

"Billy All-Amarekan" claim the bumper stickers this fall. Actually, Marek was a second team All-American last season. He missed two full games and most of a third, but received national acclaim for the season he had over Wisconsin's final three games.

In those three games — against Iowa, Northwestern and Minnesota — Marek rushed for an almost unbelievable 740 yards, and scored an equally amazing total of 13 touchdowns. If he could keep that pace up he'd finish the 1975 season with 2713 yards and 47 touchdowns.

Records aren't what Billy Marek plays football for, however. He's a team man and this year he sincerely believes is the Year of the Badger.

"I've always believed in Wisconsin," he says. "Even though we weren't winning a couple of years ago we had faith that we would. We've shown improvement every year. This year we've got the best team we've had since I've been here."

A story in the paper last spring did nothing to help Marek's confidence. Tom Butler of the Wisconsin State Journal wrote a column on April Fool's Day in which he reported the switch of Billy Marek from tailback to "buck" man on defense. A lot of people believed the story.

"Yeah," says Billy with a nervous laugh, "even my fiancé (now his wife, Bobbie) believed it."

However, as Coach John Jardine assured his 6 a.m. callers that day, there will be no such change. Marek is the tailback as the Badgers continue their 1975 season.

It is not good when Marek is out of the lineup as he was last year for that leaves the talented Badger offensive line without a mission in life. Guard Terry Stieve has said that one of the goals of "Marek's Marauders", as they were dubbed last year, is to insure Billy of another 1,000-yard season.

Bill Marek, for one, is a respectful believer in the abilities of his linemen.

"If they say I'm going to get 1,000 yards, then it shouldn't be too hard for me to do it," he says without bragging.

Married last May, Marek admits to having given some thought to the future.

"Naturally right now I'm only concerned with winning the Big 10 title," he says, "But I've thought about next year. I don't know if I'll get a chance to play professional football or not. If the opportunity presents itself, I will; but if not, I'll just concentrate on finishing school and getting a job, just like any other student. It's not something I'm going to worry about."

OHIO STADIUM

WILL ENDURE

The beautiful white color and the excellent quality of the concrete in Ohio Stadium was made possible by the use of---

Crushed Limestone and Washed Limestone Sand

More than a half-century ago, we made a pretty strong statement. But the years have proven us correct.

MCQ limestone has been used in a multitude of projects since Ohio Stadium was constructed. From driveways and patios to expressways and major commercial buildings, the list includes the Ohio Bell Building, the State Office Tower and the new Capitol Parking Garage.

Limestone from MCQ is helping Central Ohio grow. For proof, just look around!

The Ohio State University Marching Band expresses its appreciation to the OSU Symphonic Choir and Chorale for their participation in today's halftime show. Under the leadership of Prof. Maurice Casey both groups have achieved a high standard of musical performance. During the Finale, "This Is My Country," the Marching Band will play the first chorus, the Combined Choirs will sing the second chorus, and the audience is invited to join the Band and Choirs on the third chorus. The words are as follows:

This is my country! Land of my birth.

This is my country! Grandest on earth.

I pledge thee my allegiance, America the bold.

For this is my country to have — and — to — hold — .

Our Game Plan Is No Secret.

If industrial machinery plays an important part in your business, then you probably know all about our game plan. An impressive line-up of power transmission equipment, pumps and compressors supported by a first-rate team of industrial sales engineers.

In addition to a complete inventory of new equipment, our parts and repair service departments are always on call to see that a minor equipment breakdown doesn't become a plant shutdown.

And with five locations throughout Ohio and West Virginia, we're always close by when you need help.

So when your game plan calls for power transmission equipment, pumps, compressors and bearings, remember the Ohio Transmission Corporation. We're geared to help you meet tomorrow's needs today.

Cynthia McGrew, a junior from Columbus, learns to teach by instructing her peers in the use of a hockey stick — while being taped by a video camera in the general methods of teaching. Students later view the tapes to evaluate their performance, with the help of criticism from their professor and peers.

Third in the nation out of 1,382.

That's where the College of Education at Ohio State University placed in a national study of America's professional schools, published in Change Magazine, a national journal of higher education.

"To be ranked third out of the 1,382 institutions of higher learning that prepare teachers in this country puts us in the upper one-third of 1 per cent," said Dr. Frederick R. Cyphert, dean of the college.

He pointed to the "team" in the College of Education — its faculty, staff and students — as the primary reason behind the No. 3 ranking.

The faculty's efforts and the professional performances of students the college educates are the keys to the third place ranking, however. Japan's minister of education is a graduate of the college, for example, as are the president of the University of Illinois and the deans of education at the University of Colorado and the University of Tennessee. Thousands of alumni are providing leadership in school systems throughout Ohio and many other states.

Research projects are an indicator of the quality of thinking that goes on within the College of Education. The college is evaluating the effects of hand calculators in the teaching of elementary school mathematics, identifying prominent teacher problems, looking at the causes of school violence, and testing the use of third-party intervention in program-solving in big city school systems.

The College of Education has administrative responsibility for two national centers:

The Educational Research Information Center for Science,

National survey ranks OSU College of Education third

Mathematics and Environmental Education (ERIC), a national clearinghouse for information on those topics which is tied into the international computerized ERIC system.

The National Center for Educational Media and Materials for the Handicapped, which coordinates a national network of 13 learning resource centers which research, develop, disseminate and evaluate technological and other instructional breakthroughs in improving the education of handicapped children.

The college also coordinates activities with the Center for Vocational Education and the Nisonger Center for Mental Retardation.

"Theory Into Practice," a journal of education published by the college, recently won three awards for excellence from the Educational Press Association of America.

In the area of public service, the College of Education has formed a consortium with some 22 school districts in Ohio, called the School Study Council of Ohio, to further teacher development through seminars and workshops.

The college utilizes one of the greatest clinical laboratories a beginning teacher could want. Thanks to Columbus city schools and other systems in central Ohio, hundreds of student teachers each quarter receive field experience in classrooms.

Besides the college's 10 faculties, ranging in areas of concentration from Early and Middle Childhood Education to Educational Administration, the college also includes the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and has program certification responsibilities for education in art, agriculture, music, dance, and home economics.

SPECIAL OFFER TO FOOTBALL FANS!!

If Your Sweetheart Reminds You of SUSAN WHEELER
Tell Her So With a Copy of the Exciting, New Novel

YOU DON'T HAVE TO SLAY A DRAGON!

That Romantic Comedy of College Football
by JOHN and MARJORIE STUART

ILLUSTRATED IN COLOR by MARJORIE STUART

FOOTBALL FANS!

If you remember when college meant football games, sorority girls, fraternity pranks and banana splits, or if you wish you did, then you won't want to miss this romantic comedy (based largely on true experiences).

Follow the nostalgic adventures of Susan Wheeler and Andy MacLeod as their romance becomes a legend of the campus. Those were the days when the coach was furious because the back tackled too hard! When the two most beautiful girls in the whole college schemed to LOSE a beauty contest! The Quarterback impressed his sweetheart by giving her a tall stack of thick reference books instead of flowers. A perfectly sane, normal freshman co-ed was scared to death that the upperclassmen would NOT paddle her?

The big scandal was pretty innocent by today's standards. Innocent, but a little confusing. A cute blonde shocked everyone when she ran across campus in her nightie and kissed the football hero. Boy did that make him mad! He swore she'd have to kiss him again — with her clothes on. But we are telling you too much. Buy the book and find out how it all happened.

Athlete, Coach—James A. Van Fleet

by STEVE WELLER, Buffalo Evening News
President Football Writers Association of America

The pay for coaching football at the University of Florida in the early 1920s would not propel a man into an early and plush retirement. But the fringe benefits were excellent.

"If you can coach a football squad and command an ROTC battalion you can command an Army. That was my training for command."

So says Gen. James A. Van Fleet who, in a distinguished military and athletic career that began more than 60 years ago, has done all three of those jobs and just about everything in between.

Gen. Van Fleet, whose classmates at West Point included Dwight D. Eisenhower and Omar Bradley, was a major serving as military advisor to the ROTC unit at Florida in 1921 when then head coach W. G. Kline asked if he'd help tutor the Gators.

"I agreed," says Gen. Van Fleet. "I do not recall that I received any pay at all."

Two years later Van Fleet was the head man, making $600 a year for bringing the university its first national football recognition.

Turned Tide on Alabama

Much of that recognition came at the expense of Alabama, which was headed for the Southern Championship before losing, 16-6, to the visiting Gators on a rain-soaked field in 1923.

The Crimson Tide led, 6-0, at halftime when Van Fleet assessed the situation and began practicing the art of command.

"We had on those old ribbed stockings," he says, "and they were carrying a couple of pounds of mud each. I had my boys take off their stockings and the regulars changed uniforms with the ones not playing.

"I waited until the last minute to take the team back out into the rain. Alabama's coach Wallace Wade, was so mad he never spoke to me again. But, as I remember, he had his boys play barelegged in the future in bad weather."

Some two decades later when Allied forces began the invasion of France, Van Fleet was a colonel commanding the Eighth infantry Regiment that led the Fourth Division assault on Utah Beach in Normandy. Within six months he was a Major General and Corps commander.

Pericles Revisited

In 1948, with Greece under heavy pressure from the Communists, Gen. Van Fleet was dispatched to that country to help bolster government resistance. His work with the Greek military led to defeat of the Communists he proudly recalls, "without the use of one American soldier."

Home from that assignment just three months, Gen. Van Fleet was sent to Korea to command the U. S. Eighth Army.

General James A. Van Fleet

His work there led President Eisenhower to ask him to tour the Far East as his special representative in 1954.

Gen. Van Fleet's own football playing career was brief but satisfying. He did not go out for the sport until his final year at West Point, but quickly became a regular and played 60 minutes as a fullback-linebacker in the Cadets' 20-0 victory over Navy in 1914.

"Football plays an important role in the collegiate structure," he says. "Whether it is an afternoon of entertainment for students, faculty and fans, a unifying force and spirit builder on the campus or the teacher of some of life's important lessons to those who play the game, it is an integral part of the academic atmosphere."

The words carry added weight when spoken by a man whose pay stubs prove he coached for the love of the game.
